

World War II: The Price of Empire

Directed by

A war spurred by Empires that had been in conflict since Japan's invasion of China in 1937.

Often the story of WWII is told from September 1, 1939, with Germany's invasion of Poland. But empires had been in conflict since Japan's invasion of China in 1937. The war encompassed the world in 1941 when the Japanese attacked the American airbase at Pearl Harbor, only to end with a new weapon for a new age. Interviews with eyewitnesses from all major theaters of war interlace images of events captured in the British Movie tone Archive, providing living testimony to those moments in time.

TITLE:
World War II: The Price of Empire

DIRECTED BY::

CLASSIFICATION:
NONFICTION

GENRES:
History - Other / Military / Nonfiction

RUN TIME:
10 hours : 50 minutes

LANGUAGE:
English

RELEASE DATE:
November 29, 2016

MEDIA	ISBN	PRICE
4 DVDs	857326006823	US $29.99
4 DVDs w/Public Performance	857326006823P	US $199.99